SAFETY ON THE FARM

Here on Billy's Farm Barn at Amerton Farm, your safety is very important to us.

To ensure you enjoy your day out, as highlighted in the Visitor Information section on our website, we have put together a very simple list of rules that we ask you to follow. Please ask a member of staff for the Official DEFRA leaflet for more details on safety.

Wash Your Hands

After contact with animals or animal areas (fencing etc), it is important to wash your hands – especially before eating any food or playing in the play areas. We have wash stations available to use on the farm and we also have fully equipped toilets available.

Pregnant Women

All pregnant women should avoid contact with sheep or lambs. EColi can be extremely dangerous to pregnant women. Please refer to the NHS website for clear advice before visiting us or any farm.

Health & Safety

Your health and safety is very important to us and so we have staff trained in First Aid. They are available at all times, stationed around the farm. If you have any open wounds, cuts or grazes, it is important to keep them covered up to prevent against infection.

Supervise Children

Children are the responsibility of their parents/guardian and must be supervised at all times.
